Mary LoVerde Returns as Keynote Speaker for Angola's Women's Business Forum: Connectivity 2010

Mary LoVerde, the internationally recognized expert in life balance strategies, and author of three best selling books will again delight participants with creative ways to balance their lives and connect with people important to their success.

The Women's Business Forum is committed to connecting women in the workplace to resources for life success. This all-day event addresses topics of unique interest to all women in business, and will focus on Connectivity at work, home, and in the community.

Hosted by Trine University, SCORE (Service Corps of Retired Executives), and the City of Angola, attendance for the 2010 event is expected to exceed 300. Lunch is included in the registration price. Ticket sales will begin March 1, 2010, seating is limited, and early registration is recommended.

In addition to Mary LoVerde's keynote address, there will be four workshops led by local experts:

Michelle Gladieux, President of Gladieux Consulting. Known for custom training in leadership and communication topics, Michelle's clients include Fortune 500 companies, government teams, and non-profit organizations nationwide.

Leslie Raymer, CEO, Ujima Resources. A strategic advisor for health, education and non-profit organizations, Leslie has helped transition U.S. and international groups to greater collaborative leadership and resource access.

Linda Young MS, LMHC. A Licensed Mental Health Counselor, Linda creates workshops, is a motivational speaker, and teaches people how to become more self-aware to make positive changes in their lives.
